DSH test

DSH as an acronym stands for Deutsche Sprachprüfung für den Hochschulzugang ausländischer Studienbewerberinnen und -bewerber, which translates to ‘German language test for the admission of foreign students’. This test is mandatory for international students prior to embarking on a German-taught degree programme at a German university.

In order to register for the DSH test you have to be applying for a place on a degree programme at the University of Passau or be part of the AGY/AGS programme.

GCP offers a preparatory courses for the DSH test.

Course duration: 2 weeks (40 teaching units of 45 minutes)

Course start: beginning of September

Academic German Year

Are you planning to embark on a degree programme at the University of Passau but have only little or no knowledge of the German language? The Academic German Year (AGY) aims to provide international students with an affordable opportunity to learn German and fulfil the German language requirements in as little as one year.

The programme starts with level A1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). Those completing the course will be given ample preparation to pass the official German language proficiency test (DSH), a prerequisite for foreign students wishing to enrol at a German tertiary education institution.

The Academic German Year consists of three modules:

Module I: Courses A1 and A2 (beginner's level)

Module II: Courses B1 and B2 (intermediate level)

Module III: Course C1 (advanced level) and preparatory course for the German examination DSH

Study German together with highly motivated international students! The course participants will take intensive German classes five days a week (24 teaching units, each unit lasting 45 minutes) and will be taught by experienced lecturers.

Course start: October (winter semester)
 Course duration: 1 academic year
 Number of places: 20 per course (maximum)
 Programme fee: 3,490.00 euros

The course is rounded off by fun and exciting extracurricular activities, guided by tutors who are also available to help the course participants with any questions or problems that might arise.

Academic German Semester

For those of you who already have intermediate knowledge of German and do not wish to start with a beginner's course, the Academic German Semester (AGS) is shorter than the Academic German Year programme, allowing you to meet the language requirements for enrolment at a German university in only one semester.

The Academic German Semester consists of two modules:

Module II: Course B2 (intermediate level)

Module III: Course C1 (advanced level) and preparatory course for the German examination DSH

24 teaching units per week (each unit lasting 45 minutes)

Course start: April (summer semester)
 Course duration: 1 academic semester
 Number of places: 20 per course (maximum)
 Programme fee: 1,490.00 euros
